CANFIELD MAN HURT IN AUTO ACCIDENT

Edward L. Wentzel, 20. Falls Asleep, Car Plunges Into Trees

LISBON, Oct. 10.—Marking Columbiana county's 20th traffic fatality, Roger William Pike, 12-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Pike, 405 E. Washington st., was instantly killed at 4:30 p. m. Thursday.

He and a companion, Robert McCullough, 12, of 229 E. Pine st., coasted down a grade on a "bike" on W. Pine st. and collided with a car traveling north on Beaver st., driven by Mrs. J. G. May of 21329 Emley ave., Cleveland.

The lad's neck was broken by the impact of the collision with the automobile, while the McCullough youth was removed to the Salem City hospital with slight head injuries. He was later brought to his home here.

Witnesses to the accident absolved the driver of the car, who swerved to the opposite sidewalk in a futile attempt to avoid the collision. The lad, both members of the eighth grade football team and wearing their uniforms were enroute to the playground field on W. Pine st.

Roger Pike was born in Lisbon, Jan. 8, 1929. He attended the eighth grade of the Lincoln school and was a member of the Presbyterian Sunday school.

Surviving, in addition to the parents, are two brothers, Thomas, 10, and Gary Lee, aged 8 years; the grandfather, W. R. Pike, and grandmother, Mrs. R. Pike, of Lisbon.

Funeral service will be held at 2 p. m. Sunday at the Beils parlors in charge of Rev. J. Morgan Cox, pastor of the Presbyterian church. Burial will be in the Lisbon cemetery.

CONVICTION IN J-P COURT IS OVERRULED

Jury Decrees Columbiana Tavern Operator Must Stand Trial

DEFENSE COUNSEL ON WITNESS STAND

Declares Client Wished To Get It Over With Soon As Possible

LISBON, Oct. 10.—A jury in common pleas court Thursday threw out a conviction in a justice court and held that J. Willard McBride of Columbiana, operator of a tavern on Route 14, near that village, must stand trial on an indictment charging the exhibiting of gambling devices.

A jury of five women and seven men deliberated 35 minutes in returning the verdict in favor of the state which charged there was no former conviction on the gambling charge and that there was "evidence of connivance and fraud in an effort to defeat justice."

Attorney H. C. Gorbey, who took the witness stand during the afternoon on behalf of his client, J. W. McBride, admitted from the chair that he had advised the defendant in the procedure, whereby through his appearance before a justice of the peace and pleading guilty to a gambling charge he could forestall a grand jury indictment. He stated his client wished to get the matter over with following the seizure of the "slot" machines by sheriff's deputies.

Prosecutor Frank W. Springer contended the entire matter was planned to defeat justice. In his questioning of defense counsel on the witness stand, the latter declared, "We did not come to the prosecutor's office because we did not feel we would get the co-operation of the office in the immediate disposition of the case."

At this point the witness said "there are 20 or 30 other slot machines in the county which are not bothered, and we felt this case had been singled out."

Prosecutor Springer challenged the witness or any one to produce evidence of gambling machines and cited the fact that the disposition of a case before a justice of the peace is entirely up to the defendant.

Judge Joel H. Sharp in his charge to the jury stated there were two possible verdicts. Either the defendant was legally found guilty or he was not legally convicted, contingent upon whether the conviction was procured and managed by the defendant or his attorney, and in fact the state was represented in fact at the trial.

McBride was taken before Justice of the Peace W. H. Hannum at Negley on Aug. 28, just three days following the seizure of the machines by Sheriff George Hayes and deputies, and entered pleas of guilty to three affidavits sworn to by a Frank W. Wilcox, charging him with owning, keeping and exhibiting gambling devices.

The action was taken before a similar charge could be brought by county officials, and McBride was fined a total of $130, with $75 of the fines remitted and a 10-day jail sentence suspended.

STRIKE ILLEGAL, WELLS DECLARES

EAST LIVERPOOL, Oct. 10.—Branding their two-day "work holiday" an illegal strike, Joseph M. Wells, chairman of the labor committee of the United States Pottery association, warned 100 women union gold stampers and decorators in district potteries yesterday their places will be filled unless they return to work today.

The women, who are affiliated with the National Brotherhood of Operative Potters, remained adamant for adjustment of wage cuts, ranging from 8 to 20 per cent under a recently approved uniform scale for the craft in all union potteries.

Their leaders conferred with brotherhood officials after ignoring to end the "holiday," pending negotiations by President James M. Duffy, who is attending the American Federation of Labor convention in Seattle.

No one was injured although Oesch's car left the road. Ford, who is alleged to have pulled out of a driveway, was charged by the state patrol with reckless driving and fined $5 and costs in the mayor's court at Sebring.

The insertion of one advertisement in a New York City newspaper brought an unexpected avalanche of replies—and publicity—to these two girls, Gay Churchill, 21 (left) and Barton Lowell, 20, who aspired to show New York their acting ability, which they picked up in a New England stock show during the summer. When they couldn't locate a theatrical job they inserted the now much-publicized ad which listed 46 things at which they were adept, including parachute jumping, and the fact that they possessed A. FILES $10,000 SUIT IN AUTO ACCIDENT

Leonard F. Huffman of East Palestine filed a $10,000 suit in common pleas court at Lisbon today against Donald P. Morris of Alliance as the result of the death of his wife, Wilma E. Huffman, who was killed June 1 when automobiles driven by Morris and David L. Sinsley of Salem collided on the Franklin road, one-quarter of a mile southeast of the Perry grange hall.

Mrs. Huffman was one of several passengers in the car driven by Sinsley.

The plaintiff charges Morris with negligence and carelessness, driving his car at a fast rate of speed and not having it under control at the time.

HOUSE REFUSES TO BAN AID TO REDS

Amendment to Bar Funds To Russia Is Defeated By 162 to 21

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—The house refused today to specifically exclude Russia from aid under the $5,985,000,000 lend-lease appropriation.

By a standing vote of 162 to 21 the members defeated an amendment by Rep. Rich (R-Pa.) to provide that no part of the fund would be used for the benefit of the Soviets.

Rich said he wanted something in the bill to prevent President Roosevelt from "transferring one cent" of the fund "to any nation which practices Communism."

Democratic speakers replied that while they loathed Communism, Russia was opposing Hitler and "Red" Perfidy (D-Pa.) asserted, "Whether we like to admit it or not, we owe a debt of gratitude to Russia."

Sponsors of the appropriation have said repeatedly that present plans did not call for aid to Russia under the pending legislation. The house easily defeated a series of amendments, starting with the rejection of an attempt to cut $100,000,000 from a $1,100,000,000 fund for ordnance, supplies and ammunition.

TOLEDO PLANT MAY HALT WORK TONIGHT

Company Makes 70 Percent Of Tank and "Jeep" Transmissions

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—War department officials said today that the bulk of the army's tank production was threatened with immediate stoppage by a large jurisdictional dispute involving the Spicer Manufacturing company at Toledo, O., and its subsidiary, the Hillsdale (Mich.) Steel Products company.

AFL and CIO unions are involved in the controversy.

The Spicer company makes about 70 per cent of the transmissions for all the army's tanks and also for most of the half-tractor and "Jeep" combat vehicles.

The Toledo concern reported that unless there was a settlement it would have to halt work tonight on transmissions for the military vehicles and that materials were on hand for about a week's further manufacture of parts for the tanks. Spicer employs about 2,200 workers.

The Toledo plant was said to be involved in the dispute only indirectly. It has a contract with the CIO automobile workers union.

The Hillsdale company, however, has a contract with the rival AFL automobile workers union, which recently won a labor relations board election there.

Despite the AFL victory, the dispute between the rival unions continued at Hillsdale, and rioting this week resulted in temporary closing of the plant at the request of local officials.

FORT WORTH, Tex., Oct. 10.—Two ex-convicts were held today as suspects in the slaying of Marion Mile, 27-year-old nationally known golf star, and her mother at a fashionable Lexington, Ky., country club Sept. 28.

Sheriff Ernest Thompson and Police Chief Austin B. Price of Lexington started for Fort Worth after receiving a telephoned description of the men last night.

Detective Capt. A. E. Dowell of Fort Worth said Thompson told him "they're the men we're looking for."

The men who gave their ages as 32 and 43 signed waivers of extradition.

They were arrested Wednesday night by Detectives Theron Brooks and N. E. Smith whose suspicions were aroused by a Kentucky license on their car.

Both men denied any knowledge of the slaying of Miss Mile and her mother.

Water Tank at Fairmount Home Will Be Dismantled

ALLIANCE, Oct. 10.—A familiar landmark on the Fairmount Children's home property for 30 years, the huge wooden water tank atop a tall frame structure may be converted into kindling as the result of action taken by the board of trustees yesterday.

Evidence that the tank offers a hazard by its worn-out condition prompted trustees to adopt a resolution recommending to the joint board of Stark and Columbiana county commissioners the immediate replacement of the old tank with a new steel one of equal size.

Russians, However, Say Fresh, Picked Troops Are Moving Up to Meet Invaders; Declare Encirclement Not Success

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—Reports that Germany had offered an armistice to Russia circulated widely in Europe today.

A non-axis informant on the continent, a man with wide diplomatic connections whose information has proved highly reliable, said Russia was giving the terms, forwarded through Japan and Bulgaria, serious consideration because of her present critical situation, but this was denied by an authoritative Russian source in London.

"There is not a vestige of truth in the report," this London source said. "The Germans know we would not accept an armistice if it were offered."

Informed circles in the United States considered an armistice offer quite possible—in fact, considered it a quite normal procedure on the part of the Germans at such a time—but were less inclined to accept the thesis that Russia was giving such a proposal any serious consideration.

Lisbon Man Honored By Knights Templar

Judson C. King of Lisbon, a member of St. John's commandery, Knights Templar, of Youngstown, was elected grand generalissimo at the closing session of the 99th annual convocation of the Grand commandery of Ohio, K. T., at Columbus yesterday.

A number of members of Salem commandery No. 42, and their wives returned last night after attending the three-day meeting.

The group included Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wernet, Mr. and Mrs. William Underwood, Mr. and Mrs. Arch Wentz, Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Morris, E. M. Day and Earl Wang of Salem, Mr. and Mrs. John H. Irwin and S. E. Lower of East Palestine and Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Bennett of Lisbon.

Morris is head of the Salem commandery.

In the see-saw fighting around Vyazma, 125 miles southwest of Moscow, the Russians admitted the Germans had scored gains in several sectors, but said picked Red army troops were now moving up to meet them, reinforcing units which breasted the first violent impact of the Nazi onslaught.

Red Star, the Soviet army newspaper, said Russian troops recaptured a village around Vyazma and found 4,500 German dead.

Elsewhere in the same region, counter-attacking Soviet troops were reported to have routed a German motorized column, killing 8,000 Nazis and destroying 200 tanks in a five-day battle.

Red Star said the German advances around Bryansk were achieved only through sheer weight of numbers, with the invaders suffering enormous losses.

Use Immense Forces
Red Star also said the Germans were throwing immense forces into the new push after being routed earlier in the Bryansk sector, 220 miles southwest of Moscow.

Other Soviet dispatches, however, asserted that despite the renewed fury of the German onslaught, Hitler's vast encirclement plan before Moscow had collapsed and that at least some of the trapped Red armies had battled their way out of the Nazi nut-cracker.

The atmosphere in Moscow itself, contrasting with yesterday's official acknowledgement of a grave emergency, was distinctly more confident.

The Soviet command was reported to have opened the floodgates of Russia's mighty manpower reserves, throwing masses of fresh troops into the bitter conflict.

WHAT CHANGED?

No. 1 argument for putting what's left of the neutrality act on the skids is that conditions have changed. The act no longer can do what it was intended to do. It cannot keep the United States out of war, but it can keep the United States at a disadvantage in safeguarding its security.

The change in conditions that caused this is Germany's aggression was one thing to theorize about keeping the United States out of war on the assumption that if war came it would be of no concern to the American people. It is another thing to apply the theorizing to the actual condition of a war which is of vital concern to the American people.

They are as shocked today about Europe as they were in the years of the great disillusionment, when they felt sure Europe was the root of all evil. They are as certain as they ever were that Europe is sowing the seeds of its own destruction by its interminable and costly wars. But they see now what they didn't see in the years of the great disillusionment.

No European aggressor—no aggressor anywhere—must be permitted to threaten the security of the United States. There are no Chinese walls or Maginot lines behind which a nation may live in peace merely by resolving to stay out of trouble.

AXIOM FOR OUR TIMES

Perhaps no category of European news has furnished more comfort recently than reports of civil disorder from the occupied countries. It probably is time, therefore, to begin to feel skeptical.

An axiom for our times is to beware of the authoritarians when they bear tales. When reports from Berlin and Rome speak freely, despite censorship, of repressive measures to quell riots and discourage civil disobedience, someone probably is grinding an ax.

Belief in the ability of conquered peoples to throw off their yoke by defiance, with no outside help, has the effect of lessening the conviction of urgency essential to successful prosecution of the war by Great Britain and the United States. It is only common sense to bear this in mind when Germany, itself, becomes a party to distribution of reports about revolt in the lands it has conquered.

The Nazi regime holds tight control over information sent out of Germany. While it is not suggested that the information about riots and disobedience is incorrect, it is easily conceivable that the only reason it is being made available to the British and to Americans is because of its probable effect on their attitude. Beware of the authoritarians when they seem to be growing candid; candor is not one of their characteristics.

THIS IS IT

The date is Oct. 10. The place is Russia above the latitude of 45 degrees, corresponding roughly to the area from Portland, Me., to the outlet of Hudson Bay. Germany has no time to lose.

Its objective is destruction of the Russian army and victory before winter, or injury so severe that the army, cut off from its most productive sources of supply in the south, will cease to be a formidable foe.

The magnitude of the German attack leaves no doubt that this is the climactic effort of all the experts have awaited. The greatest battle of the greatest war of all time is being fought. Never before were so many men and so much equipment used on a single front.

If Germany can do what it is trying to do, it will be without armed resistance to check its aggression wherever and whenever it moves on the continent of Europe. It will be in position to isolate Great Britain, destroy it piecemeal from the air, or invade it outright.

There is no amount of propaganda or wishful thinking that can conceal the importance of what is going on now between the Black and White seas; the shape of World War II, which began as an attempt to hold Hitlerism inside Germany may develop into a struggle to hold Hitler's "new order" inside Europe.

If Germany fails, the outcome will be fully as stupendous. Russia then will have to be dealt with as a victor. The German people will squirm under a revenge as terrible as that they have approved for their defeated foes. Europe will have to be reorganized. New terms of security will have to be discovered and applied.

It is not disrespect for Britain but respect for the facts which prompts the thought that the British have been reduced to a position of second-rate importance as far as determination of the outcome of World War II is concerned. Russia alone, has a chance to stop Germany where it must be stopped to keep it from becoming the military master of Europe in Europe.

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

A fresh surge of Nazi attacks today has thrust the Russian line back at several points along the front opposite Moscow, but whether this has produced any vital change in the position isn't yet evident.

In the far south, too, the Germans are reported forging ahead along the shore of the Sea of Azov toward the gateway to the Caucasus.

Moscow declares that the Nazi gains are being made "over mountains of German corpses." This is gruesome but not surprising, for the German high command always has depended largely on the weight of massed attacks for results.

Grim danger continues to press heavily on the Russian fighting lines. However, the fact that in the crucial central sector the Reds seem to be resisting so strongly is in itself a hopeful sign. Every hour that the Bolsheviks can continue to hold the Hitlerian avalanche is a golden one for the defense, since the fury of the great German drive probably has reached its peak.

The Germans assert that the Russian war is virtually over—that the Reds already are crushed. It may be, indeed, that the Muscovites have been so weakened that they are on the verge of collapse. Only time will demonstrate that.

I do not believe, however, that the Reds are beaten. The only thing that can knock them clear out of the war, as this column has emphasized before, is a collapse of morale. It would be difficult to find any signs of weakening morale in a Red fighting front in which civilians are facing death-dealing terrors which are hard even for the professional soldier to face.

It is important not to overlook that the Japanese are watching the German progress intently. There can be small doubt that Hitler is doing his utmost to bring the Nipponese into conflict with Britain, America or Russia. Tokyo doesn't warm up to the idea of war with the U. S. A. or England but collapse of the Russian front might easily result in a Japanese attack on Siberia.

ALL THE NEEDED VITAMINS

Reducing Diet Has Them, Says Clendening

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

In the diets this week you will notice I have often marked after an article of the diet, the advantages it has in the way of iron-content, calcium-content, Vitamin A or B, or C, or D-content.

The articles of food are selected so that you have a balanced diet and yet enough protein, minerals and calcium while you are reducing. There is no necessity to fortify this diet by taking vitamins in capsule or pill form at an enormous expense.

The lack of these protective elements is the criticism that may legitimately be directed against many of the famous diets that have been so touted in the last few years. "The Hollywood 18-day Diet," writes Dr. Morris Fishbein, in his excellent "Your Diet and Your Health," emphasizes oranges, grapefruit, melba toast and raw vegetables, but it provides only 600 or 700 calories a day and is deficient in many of the necessary proteins, carbohydrates, fats and minerals.

"The diet for Friday (tomorrow) contains about 1200 calories and has all the necessary protein, carbohydrate, fat, minerals, salt, vitamins your body needs.

Questions and Answers
L. B.: "Please tell me the average weight for a girl 17 years old, five feet, three inches tall."

Answer: 123½ pounds. For rough calculation to obtain ideal weight, multiply the number of inches over 5 feet by 5½, and add 110. The result is in pounds.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Dr. Clendening has seven pamphlets which can be obtained by readers. Each pamphlet sells for 10 cents. For any one pamphlet desired, send 10 cents in coin, and a self-addressed envelope stamped with a three-cent stamp, to Dr. Logan Clendening, 235 E. 45th st., New York. The pamphlets are: "Three Weeks Reducing Diet," "Indigestion and Constipation," "Reducing and Gaining," "Infant Feeding," "Instructions for the Treatment of Diabetes," "Feminine Hygiene," and "The Care of the Hair and Skin."

Miss Layden, Richard Capel, Exchange Vows At Church

White gladioli and lighted white cathedral tapers at the altar in St. Paul's Catholic church formed lovely setting for the wedding at 10 this morning of Miss Martha Helene Layden to Richard George Capel.

Rev. Fr. Joseph A. Mahon performed the ceremony, at which "open church" was observed.

Miss Layden, who had her two sisters and her little niece as her attendants, is the fourth bride in her family to be married on Oct. 10.

The date is the anniversary of her parents, grandparents and great grandparents.

The bridal attendants were Mrs. Frederik K. Schuller of McKeesport, Pa., as matron of honor, Miss Jeanne Layden as bridesmaid, and Miss Molly Lou Schuller as flower girl.

Carl Capel served as best man for his brother and ushers were Robert Layden, brother of the bride, Homer Detweiler and Don Whitehead of Salem, and Gene Cantwell of Alliance.

The wedding music included a vocal solo, "Ave Marie" (Schubert) by Miss Donna Rose Haessly.

Bride in White Satin
The bride was beautiful in a gown of ivory satin, fashioned with fitted bodice and soft full skirt which formed a court train. The bodice was cut with a shoulder yoke of Alencon lace, applied with tiny seed pearls, and long fitted sleeves ending in points over the hands.

She wore a diamond brooch worn by her mother at her wedding and carried a handkerchief belonging to her maternal grandmother.

Her veil of ivory illusion was worn by her sister, the former, Mary Louise Layden, at her wedding. Arranged in a coronet of Alencon lace, the veil was caught at the back with two clusters of orange blossoms. She carried an ivory and gold prayer book, a gift of the groom, with a white orchid and white satin ribbon markers, showered with baby's breath.

Mrs. Schuller, as matron of honor, and Miss Layden, bridesmaid, wore period gowns of moire taffeta, styled with fitted bodices, short shirred sleeves and very full skirts, and wore Juliet caps of gold net. The former's gown of gold taffeta was bound at the sweet heart neckline in brown velvet and she carried a shower bouquet of yellow and bronze pompons, tied with brown velvet ribbon. Miss Layden in American Beauty taffeta, trimmed at the neckline with matching velvet ribbon, carried a shower bouquet of the same flowers tied with gold ribbon.

Flower Girl in White
The little flower girl wore a long, full-skirted frock of white tulle, with white tulle and sleeves trimmed with the bodice of the frock, and tiny gold velvet bows dotted the skirt. She wore a halo of bronze pompons in her hair and carried a colonial bouquet of bronze, yellow and white pompons, tied with white and gold streamers.

Mrs. Layden, mother of the bride, in a cocoa brown silk crepe with gold accessories, and Mrs. Capel, mother of the groom, in forest green silk crepe with brown accessories, had corsages of teaseros. The bride's grandmother, Mrs. Mary Stiver, wore a black gown with corsage of gardenias.

Following the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served at the Hotel Lape to members of the wedding party and immediate families.

Appointments for the table were in bridal white and crystal. A tiered wedding cake topped with miniature bride and groom formed the centerpiece. Ivory tapers in crystal candelabra, white gladioli and ivory satin ribbons running from the candleholders to the places completed the decorations for the table, covered with ivory linen cloth.

The couple left for a wedding trip through the east to Washington, D. C., New York and other points of interest and on their return will make their home on Jennings ave.

Wears Brown for Travel
For traveling, Mrs. Capel wore a three-piece brown herringbone tweed suit with Kelly green and brown accessories and white orchid corsage.

The bride, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas S. Layden of N. Lundy ave., is a graduate of Salem High school, in the class of 1939. Mr. Capel, the son of Mrs. Barbara Capel of Washington ave., and Burt C. Capel of North Ellsworth ave., is employed by the Mullins Co. He was graduated from Salem High school in 1939.

The rehearsal supper at the Hotel Lape last night, following the rehearsal, was given by Mr. and Mrs. Schuller, brother-in-law and sister of the bride. Guests were members of the wedding party and families.

The table was centered with miniature replicas of the bridal party arranged on a mirror encircled with white roses. White candles in crystal holders lighted the table.

Mrs. Benson Miller Is Honored
A group of friends honored Mrs. Benson Miller, the former Miss Mary Jane Lora, bride of last Saturday, at a miscellaneous shower last night at the home of Miss Helen Lora on the Benton rd.

Guests played Monte Carlo whilst during the evening, prizes going to Miss Mary Weigand and Miss Ruth Schmid. Appointments for the lunch were in pink and white, with a large sprinkling can as centerpiece, to which were fastened streamers running to the miniature sprinkling can favors at the places. Tapers in candelabra lighted the table.

Robert Montgomery turns in another hit performance in his characterization of Joe in "Here Comes Mr. Jordan," showing at the State tonight and Saturday.

Claude Rains is seen as Mr. Jordan, James Gleason as Joe's tight manager, Evelyn Keyes as the secretary who loves the fighter. Others in the cast are Rita Johnson, John Emery, Donald McBride, and Halliwell Hobbes and Edward Everett Horton.

The novel story of a young fighter destined to be champion of the world but who gets to heaven through the efforts of an overzealous "heavenly" messenger is decidedly out of the run of motion picture entertainment.

A comedy skillfully played and directed, it is the most original screen production since "Topper." When the fighter gets to heaven and they find he's the wrong man, they have to send him back and it's Mr. Jordan's task to see that he does. A murder intervenes and makes Joe wonder whether he'll ever become world champion.

At the Grand tonight and Saturday are Zane Grey's "Last of the Duanes" with George Montgomery, Lynn Roberts and Eve Arden; and "Harmon of Michigan" with Tom Harmon, Anita Louise, Forest Evanshevi and Oscar O'Shea.

After completing the course, the members of the class will be eligible to take the instructor's course which will be held under the direction of Dr. Bischoff of the National American Red Cross in the same location the week of Oct. 13, Monday through Friday.

Guests at the social were Robert Henry, Red Cross chairman of Columbiana county chapter, Ed Gar-site, county first aid chairman, both of East Palestine, and Porter Aiken, adult education supervisor, of Franklin Square.

NEW ORLEANS — Brig.-Gen. Raymond H. Fleming, adjutant general of Louisiana, has a high-ranking military aide. He is Col. Raymond H. Fleming, Jr., commander of the field artillery regiment of the Louisiana State university cadet corps and a chauffeur to his father.

Regular Salem Backfield Will Start In Struthers Grid Battle

COACH EXPRESSES DOUBT THAT SUBS PLAY FOR VISITORS

Says Struthers First Team Is Not Necessarily One That Is Injured

The regular Salem backfield of Vohlo, Nocera, Scullion, and Greene, will be on the field tonight when the starting whistle blows for the clash against Struthers. All except Nocera had been injured and their return to the lineup had been uncertain.

With Coach Ray Overturf expressing serious doubt that the Struthers backfield is composed of second stringers, as announced by Coach Ben Barrett yesterday, a hard, tough battle was foreseen.

"If that's their second string backfield, I'd hate to see their first," said Overturf, who witnessed Monday night's muddy loss by Struthers to Girard 2-0. "I don't see how anybody can call one team the varsity just because they started in the first game."

The fact that the injured Struthers backfield was the one that started in the season's first game but had not played since.

The only probable change in the Salem lineup will be the substitution of 200 pound Glenn Weigand at left tackle for Ruffing. Weigand is a hard, steady player and a vicious tackler.

The probable starting lineups:

Weigand	LT
Shasteen	LG

Breezy Briets Of Sport From Brietz To You

BY HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—You can't keep up with the sports seasons just warming up and we find Ned Irish working overtime on basketball bookies. Ned's first college show at the Garden will be Dec. 13. What's this we hear about Duguesne threatening to quit football? Story is the Dukes can't compete with Pitt at the gate and Pitt won't compete with Duguesne on the field. Phil Rizzuto has promised to be one of the umpires when Fort Niagara, baseball champion of the second army corps area, plays Fort Adams, first corps area champ, at Brooklyn's Dexter park tomorrow.

Today's Guest Star

Dan Desmond, Sioux City (Ia.) Journal: "I can't admit the Yankees were lucky any more than Louis was a darling of the Gods when he whistled that right to Nova's whiskers. I will admit that simple moral justice should have installed Brooklyn's braves as champions. Trouble is, the only place where good triumphs over evil is in the razzing ring."

One Minute Sports Page

Latest addition to the "bowling" games is the Carolina Bowl, which will send 22 North Carolina players against 22 from South Carolina for the Greenville (S. C.) Lions club charity fund, Dec. 6. The assumption is the governors will be there to make their famous remarks. Sam Taub, the fight broadcaster, will turn actor Oct. 15 on the "Meet Mr. Meek" program. He has been cast as a fight announcer. South Dakota is due to get a look at several baseball bigwigs during the next week or two while the baseballers look over shotgun barrels at some of that state's ten million pheasants.

Len Will, who almost played fullback for Columbia this season, and Dave Allerdice, Princeton's 1940 passing ace, will listen to the Lions-Tigers game together tomorrow down at Chickasha, Okla. Joe Louis' next opponent may be Corp. John Pivovar of Fort Sheridan, Ill., who is being urged to tackle the champ during Louis' exhibition tour. John's pals say

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—Climbing out on the football limb: Rice-Tulane: No weakness in this Tulane machine. Tulane.

Texas - Oklahoma: Oklahoma's played only one game and remains a question mark. Texas. Georgia Tech-Notre Dame: There appears to be too much depth in this Notre Dame squad for the engineers in the long run. Notre Dame.

North Carolina-Purdum: Purdue nearly got its ears pinned back by S. M. U. a week ago. They rate a pronounced nod over North Carolina in any case.

Oregon States-Stanford: Hesitatingly, Stanford. Minnesota-Illinois: Obviously Illinois is improved but this doesn't look like the spot for a Gopher beating, Minnesota.

Georgia-Mississippi: On the spin, Georgia.

Yale-Penn: Well take Penn. Navy-Lafayette: Shouldn't be more than a good workout for Navy.

Maryland-Duke: Ditto for Duke. Boston College-Clemson: Looks like a real dog-fight. Boston College.

HARMON DECIDES TO PLAY PRO FOOTBALL

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Oct. 10.—All-American Tom Harmon is going to take one more "crack" at the game that lifted him to fame.

The former University of Michigan halfback, who turned a deaf ear to pro gridiron offers after hanging up his legs, will not onto the field Oct. 19 in New York to play with the New York Americans against Columbus.

Harmon, who has been no nearer a football field than the radio booth and sidelines this season, says that "Ever since I've been watching the boys out on the field this fall I've had the urge to play again."

The Chicago Bears obtained rights to him in the player draft last winter, but Harmon turned down all offers, saying he never would play professional football.

He played in two games after finishing at Michigan where he broke the Western conference scoring record that had been established by Harold (Red) Grange. They were the East-West game last New Year's day and the Chicago Bears-College All-Stars game last August.

AUSTIN, Tex.—One of the longest flights of white-wing doves on record has been reported to the state game, fish and oyster commission. The doves, banded in Cameron county, Tex., were shot in San Salvador, Central America, two and a half months later. The airline distance between the two points is 1,200 miles.

SCOTT FIELD, Ill.—Scott Field has lost the last trace of the lighter-than-air flying era in which it was established and for which it was to serve. Seven carloads of helium containers, the last remaining at the field, have been shipped to Duncan Field, San Antonio, Tex., for reconditioning for future use.

he couldn't do any worse than Lou Nova.

Last Laugh

Alexis Thompson, who invested some of his spare cash in the Philly Eagles instead of polo ponies, still figures it was a wise move. Polo football player, he argues, weigh just as much as polo ponies, cost more to feed, but don't take as much stable room.

BOWLING RESULTS

Brown and Beck last night grossed 610 and 612, respectively, as they paced the Jaycee All Stars to a 3-0 rout Kelley's Sohloans in the Commercial league. Beck's 259 in the second game neared a season's high at the Grate alleys and, combined with a 211 by Brown in the same game, gave the Jaycees a 930 for the fray. An 859 in the final game gave them a total of 2650 for the evening. Harris led the Sohloans with a 577.

The Ohio Bell Telephone keglers also chalked up three wins as they rolled consistently high frames to mark game scores of 912, 925, and an evening's total of 2693. Donbar was high man with a 235 as the Dialers swept over Scott's Sports.

Huffer's 613 and Heier's 610 closely matched scores by Beck and Brown for the Jaycees but lack of effective support gave Smith's Steamery only a 2-1 win over the Recreation Billiards.

The vagaries of bowling were seen last night when Shasteen's Service and the Crescent Machine Jrs. battled to a 2385-2385 tie for the evening's gross. Miller of Shasteen's rolled the best game for either team as notched a total of 627. But the Crescent Machine Jrs won two games and Shasteen's one.

Other Commercial league games included a 3-0 win over the Amateur Pros by the Zimmerman Oids, with a 926 in the second game, and a 2-1 Crescent Machine win over the Trades Class.

Howell's Football Chatter

By FRITZ HOWELL

COLUMBUS, Oct. 10.—Wrapping up a few loose ends of football this and that!

Ohio State's gridders came home wearing those 10-gallon cowboy bonnets they bought in Albuquerque, but they had a host of other gaudy gadgets purchased from the colorful Indians in the New Mexico town. Ash trays and other trinkets, made of adobe, copper, and brass, for which the boys traded good U. S. wampum, bore the legends "Made in Japan" and "Made in England," but the footballers didn't find it out until they were back on the train and heading west again.

Fritz Mackey, who doubles as Buckeye tackle coach and scout, has been getting around. Until two weeks ago he had never seen sunny California, and then he hit the Golden Gate state twice in 10 days. He traveled 10,400 miles, 7,800 by air, to scout the Trojan-Oregon State game, and to accompany the Bucks back to the coast for their 33-0 win over Southern California. "I hope all my trips to the coast end as happily as the first two," Fritz grinned.

Milwaukee's Chiefs will put a team averaging 230 pounds on the field Sunday afternoon, as they meet Columbus' Bulls, champs of the American Pro league, at Red Bird stadium. The Bulls' front office says 20,000 will see the tilt.

In these days of "yuh gotta win" football, it's refreshing to find a college, a team and a student body like those at Rio Grande, snuggled down in the Galia county hills. The Rio Redmen haven't won a game in more than three seasons, and it was back in early October, 1939, that they scored their last touchdown. Then, last Saturday, the Rios got another as they dropped a 47 to 6 contest to West Virginia State—and the Knob

RED COCHRANE VS. RAY ROBINSON IS NON-TITLE BATTLE

At Least the Commission Says So, But Few Fans Believe It

By SID FEDER

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—It was "Here we go again, boys" for Gus Q. Fan today as he climbed back on the merry-go-round to contemplate the latest development in the screwiest set of fistic developments in years.

As though it wasn't enough in the last 72 hours for the state athletic commission (1) to suspend a couple of managers for giving their boxers honest instructions and (2) to offer no more than a figurative slap on the wrist to a fighter who failed to fight, this new bit of confusion amounted to the proposal for a non-title bout for the world welterweight championship.

The latest announcement is for a ten-round match in Madison Square Garden Oct. 31 between Welterweight Champion Red Cochrane and the hard-hitting Harlem Negro, Ray Robinson. Robinson has been knocking the ears off lightweights exclusively, but with the Cochrane fight, his manager, Curt Hormann, says he will move up into the welterweight wars for keeps.

Handicap Match

This Oct. 31 shindig was announced by Promoter Mike Jacobs as a "handicap match," with Cochrane being forced to make 145 pounds. Such the case, both fighters would come in under the 147-pound welterweight limit. Since the New York rules say no fight under 15 rounds may be considered a championship get-together, the commission would okay the ten-round route for this one as a non-title tilt.

BARRED 7 SEVENS by MARYSE RUTLEDGE

CHAPTER THIRTEEN

The last driver who had picked up Charlie Breanu at the railroad station testified at the inquest. He said the lady told him she was early for an appointment, and just to drive around. She seemed pretty nervous.

So he idled her along. Then she nearly had fits because she insisted a car was following. He saw lights behind, but couldn't swear they were being trailed. He dodged in and out of small roads, to humor her. Suddenly, near Mount Ivy—at least he thought that was it, but he wasn't so familiar with the country around there—she ordered him to stop and get out.

"I asked the lady to let me drive her where she was going," he spoke to the jury like the old friends they were. "She wouldn't listen. She hands me five bucks, and walks off in the dark. She was kinda white and her eyes very big. A swell dresser. That's the last I seen of her." He was positive. The trail ended there.

Then Jane gave her testimony quietly, though her heart pounded, and she was painfully conscious of her mother's presence. David's squared face, of Kurt Helm's keen profile and Breanu's dark, brilliant eyes fixed upon her.

No, she had never met Charlie Breanu. She couldn't be sure whether she had touched the rumble seat or not. To her knowledge, it had only been opened when her week-end guest, Mr. Farland, put his bag in there at the Haverstraw station. He came on the 5:56. Yes, he seemed excited. He had told her of talking to some lady on the ferry who had seemed very frightened. Yes—she perceptibly hesitated—Mr. Farland, anxious for this lady, had insisted on following a taxi he thought she was in. Then they had lost sight of her.

She felt her color ebb. She wanted to run away, to hide. Yet they questioned her gently and she went on to the only moment when she and David had left the car. The first time was around the bend from Jo's Garage. She had run out of gas. The second time was under the trees near the little station opposite Macklin's store.

Yes, she identified the gentleman pointed out to her as Mr. Matilla Breanu whom she met for the first time in the garage. The lady next to him had been introduced as Mrs. Rubley. No, the other gentleman, Mr. Garrison, was not there.

Then came the question she had dreaded. "Did you see anything fall from Mr. Farland's pocket? An object—say—like a black compact?"

"Yes," she answered faintly, without looking at David.

"Did Mr. Breanu not become violent when he saw that compact?"

"Not really violent," she caught Breanu smiling at her, and flushed. "Did you know that Mrs. Breanu had been missing from her home about four months?"

"No."

"It was a misty night. Mr. Farland says you both saw a man running past you as you walked back to your car. Is that right?"

"That's right."

Jo, his rubbery face twisting, shouted, "That was my mechanic. I've got him here. He can—"

The gavel silenced him. He muttered to a nearby group. Jane didn't miss the black looks directed at David.

The question dragged her through the ghastly time in old Macklin's store. The mysterious couple dropped up again; David's fight with them.

Thank Heaven, they didn't ask her about the supposed propaganda material which Kurt Helm had burned. She shivered, glancing over at him. He seemed different. His arrogant bearing had dwindled. He wore an old leather coat and shapeless trousers. Then she noticed Mat Breanu, leaning a little forward, staring at Helm.

"Who opened the rumble seat and discovered the body?"

Jane said, "I believe it was Mr. Farland." This time she looked at David with a slight curve of lip. She did love him. He grinned back at her, resilient, confident, again under her smile.

Her ordeal was over. Her mother held tightly to her hand.

Kurt Helm, sworn in, had nothing important to say. His voice was low. He was German born, an American citizen, a writer of fiction, also articles on economic matters. He had lived for several months opposite the Rider's farmhouse in a log cabin. Before that he had traveled a great deal abroad and at home. He had never seen the dead woman, Charlie Breanu, until Saturday night. He looked straight at Jane as he said this.

Breanu received crisp but courteous handling David sat up to listen. In spite of their hot encounters he couldn't help but be impressed by this Broadway "big shot." Breanu was immaculately turned out, in a pin stripe suit and sober gray tie. He carried his inevitable ebony stick. His stocky figure had dignity, his manner had the restrained melancholy of a forceful man faced with shattering tragedy.

He accounted carefully for his time Saturday night, indicating Mrs. Rubley as his companion, and stating that his lawyer, Mr. Garrison, had joined them for dinner, about a quarter to eight, at a restaurant on South Mountain Road.

He admitted he had been worried as to his wife's whereabouts the past four months, and intensely shocked to find a compact he had given her in the possession of a stranger.

The witness didn't mention Fan Rubley's stormy exit during dinner, nor the mysterious attack on Garrison Sunday morning in his Breanu's apartment. His olive skin and dark, silky eyes held their own when he confessed that, in the general agitation, he might have been mistaken when he said that he had heard of the murder over the radio in his car. He remembered now that he had heard of it in the restaurant, and had gone to the Rider place out of sheer curiosity. No, of course he had no idea he would find his lamented wife as the victim. His voice broke.

In the room, public sympathy veered toward him. Watching Fan Rubley, Jane caught the worried expression on that round, creamy face. More than one man was staring at her.

The next question was cautious. "Because of your wealth and position, Mr. Breanu, you may have enemies. We are trying to get at the motive of this crime, you understand. Do you know of anyone seeking revenge against you?"

"No," Breanu answered evenly.

"When did you last see your late wife?"

"Four months ago when she left my house."

"Could you give us any reason for her doing so?"

"That," Breanu said coldly, "was due to a family quarrel such as most people experience at times."

Quite abruptly, the witness was asked, "Are you willing to let the jury examine your car?"

"If you don't wish to at this time."

A hush fell over the courtroom. Jane thought she saw Mrs. Rubley clutch at Garrison's hand.

"Certainly," Mat Breanu smiled and handed it over to the coroner. Gaunt Sergeant Wayne of the troopers then took it and twisted, then jerked at the crooked handle. Nothing happened. It was all of a piece.

Silence was tense until David jumped up, heedless of the gavel. "She might have been stabbed with a sword cane!" he cried.

David hadn't meant to interrupt the inquest so sensationally. He certainly hadn't meant to accuse Matilla Breanu of murdering his own wife with a sword cane. But the idea burst upon his excited mind when he noticed Sergeant Wayne testing the handle of the stick before offering it to the jury.

The scene in the garage over Charlie's compact returned vividly to the youthful David. Breanu's black rage, his play with the stick as if it were a weapon. Thus his inquest explosion which disturbed proceedings.

David, his cheeks as fiery as his hair, dropped back beside Jane. The coroner's rebuke stung his ears along with the threat of a heavy fine if he created further disturbance. Jane moved away from him, nearer to her mother. She didn't look at him.

He whispered, "Sorry, hon." She didn't answer.

Mat Breanu gazed across at David and smiled, his dark eyes mocking as his ebony stick was returned to him. He slowly returned to his lawyer and Fan Rubley. Attorney Garrison's hand went to his gray hair, his face youthful, impassive. He seemed rather bored. But Fan's big blue eyes stared at David Farland with startled interest.

est. Only she and Mat knew that another and deadlier stick lay hidden elsewhere. Mat never took any unnecessary risks.

Breanu had been smooth, caressing since yesterday morning when he had started to choke her. Knowing too much, Fan felt helpless between this "big shot" she loved with despair, and the time chiseled features of Garrison, who still bore the marks of the attack from his mysterious assailant in Breanu's library. Fan was sure the latter was the same blond man who had followed her through the park. Neither Breanu nor Garrison had made any attempt to trace him. Why?—why?—ran through her confused mind.

How to make Pillsbury's Four-Layer Cream Pie

It's different, new, and mighty good!

Easy Pillsbury Recipe:

First, a flaky, tender pie crust: 1. Bake a 9-in. pie shell, using Enriched Pillsbury's Best Flour. Chill ingredients before mixing. Work quickly, with a "light" hand. Add ice water to flour mixture a little at a time. Enriched Pillsbury's Best has the same perfect flavor and fine baking quality as always, but two B-vitamins and iron have now been added—elements everyone needs for sound nerves and good appetite. 2. The smooth, creamy filling: Combine 1/2 c. Pillsbury's Best, 1/2 c. sugar, and 1/4 tsp. salt in top of double boiler. Add 3 c. milk; stir constantly. As the mixture thickens, note the rich creamy color, the smooth, ungrained texture so necessary to perfect filling. Pillsbury's Best is tested every hour for creamy white color! 3. Cook mixture over boiling water until thick and smooth (10 min.). 4. Add a little of the hot filling to 2 eggs, well-beaten. Mix well. Return to hot mixture. Stir and cook about 1 min. longer. 5. Remove from fire; add 1 tsp. vanilla. Turn 1/2 mixture into your tender, flaky pie shell (it's always tender and flaky if you use Pillsbury's Best, for we test by actual baking 4 to 6 times daily to make sure that Pillsbury's Best will always do its very best for you! Pillsbury's Best is truly bake-proved, to protect your baking! 6. Add 1 1/2 sqs. (1 1/2 oz.) unsweetened chocolate, melted, and 3 Tbsp. sugar to other half. 7. Pour over the smooth vanilla filling; cool. 8. Toss thick, sweetened whipped cream over all and sprinkle grated chocolate over top. Four-Layer Cream Pie looks like a chef's dream. And as you cut it, note how tender, how delicate and flaky pie crust can be when you use Pillsbury's Best! Four-Layer Cream Pie tastes as luscious as it looks, so we'd advise making an extra one. Then you can answer those welcome compliments with "Have another piece of pie!"
